| | Her hands strayed over the organ notes, And there rose such music, sweetly grand. That as I istened I siched and thought, |

The notes are touched by an angel's hand.

The sunlight stole through the diamon And fell on her golden ri; pling hair, And as I gazed, I proudly thought, A crown of glory is resting there.

Through the open window a murmur came, Of summer breezes, sweet and clear—
And as I heard, I sadly thought,
"Tis an angel's wings that are rustling near.

I stood by her side in the golden light, My hand on hers I laid— "Oh, love, I would always see you thus," With faltering lips, I said. I stand in that lonely room one more, But the golden light is fied, And the hand that had strayed o'er the organ no Is motionless and dead.

And I think of that evening long ago, When our love had just begun, As I saw her sitting by my side In the light of a dying sun.

And I turn away from that darkened room, With my two hands locked in prayer, That as I had seen her long ago, So I might see her there. So I might hear that angel's song And look in her changeless eyes, When the light of a never dying sun

NEW ORLEAN. August 1.—Corron—Inactivily and duliness have been the prevailing features to-day. The market was scantily supplied throughout, particularly with the higher grades of the staple, and as buyers and sellers continued apart in their views—the former contending for concessions, while the latter steadily adhered to previous demands—only a trifling business has been transacted, comprising at the close barely 550 bales, five brokens participating in the business. We have no alteration to report in prices, the principal portion of the lists sold changing hands on the basis of last evening's quotations, which were as follows: Ordinary 2022c., Good Ordinary 2324, Low Middling 25a—, and Middling 27373. The day's transactions would have been larger had not several parties been prevented from operating by their inability to find the description required.

MONEY MARKET. The New York Commercial Advertiser of Saturday.

August 3, says;
The week closes as it fopened, with extreme case in money. The banks have large unemployed balances, and are offering round amounts at 3 per cent. on Governments, and 4 per cent. on stocks, although the general rate on splications for money is 1 per cent. above these figures. There is very little employment for money in business paper. The supply from commission houses is strictly moderate, and from jobbers nominal. Prime paper is current at 6s7 per cent., but scarce. There is no appreciable movement of currency toward the interior, although a current in that direction may set in at any time. The banks, however, are in a position to meet a demand from that source without any important effect upon the money market.

We have to report for the week an active and improving market, at fully ½ cent per pound advance on the opening prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations opening prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations of the complete prices of Saturday, closing with our prices of Saturday, opening prices of Saturday, closing with our quotations very fully maintained. The sales are entirely to spinners and on speculation, the advance in prices here and the decline in Liverpool ruling exporters out of the market. The stock of Cotton at all the ports will not exceed 100,001 bales, and as even this small stock is being rapidly reduced, our spinners are in the market to purchase the supply needed to carry them through until the receipt of the new crop. Good stapled cottons are becoming scarce on the market and are in demand at full prices. The Liverpool market has ceased to affect prices in our market, it being concluded that the supply of cotton in this country is only sufficient for our own consumption—until the new crop is put on the market.

I have been for a year or more past in the habit of taking the water of the "Excelsior" Spring of Saratoga. Accustomed during the great portion of my invalid lite to use the different waters of the several fountains which boil up along that remarkable valley, dependent, indeed upon them for much of the comfort I enjoy, I am satisfied that the Excelsior Water is as well sclapted as any other among them, if not more so, to the purposes for which they are generally employed. It is very agreeable, strongly impregnated with the carbonic acid, lively and sparkling. * * * I can hearbly and conscientiously recommend it to all who need a gentle cathartic and directic.

Received during the month of August, 1866. Messes. OHICKERING & SONS—Gents: I have much pleasure in enclosing a document signed by the first composers, musicians and professors in Europe. The enclosed certificate will prove how manimous they have been on the subject. I beg to coward at the same time, a letter I received from my orethren. My Dran Sm: I have great pleasure in saking youto convey to Mesars. Chickering the expression of my highest approval of their instrument. It is, I consider, not merely the best instrument of American manufacture that I have tried, but one of the fluest Grand Pianofortes that has ever come under my observation; and the Mesars. Chickering may well be proud of having turned out from their manufactory an instrument, which, for touch, quality, payer and workmanatio, would be very difficult to surpass in any part of the wide world.

Dear sir, very sincerely yours,

OHAS. D. COLLARD, LONDON, August 22, 1866, James H. Wehlt, Egg.:

My DEAR SAN: As you are going back to the United states, I must beg you to remember me kindly to the Messrs. Chickering. Tell them I was deligned with their Grand Plano-forte—as good an instrument, I think as was ever turned out, both in touch andler t.

Among the chiefpoints of excellence of the Chicker-ing Pianos, of which speak the renowned artists in their congratulatory testimonials to the Mesers. Chickering, are the greatest possible depth, richness and volume of tone, combined with a rare brilliancy, clearness and tone, combined with a face brimatory before the perfect eveniness throughout the entire scale; and, above all, a surprising duration of sound, the pure and sympathetic quality of which never changes under the most delicate or powerful touch.

They are unrivalled for their singing qualities and for the harmonious roundness of their tone. There is a perfect homogeneity throughout all the registers. The upper notes are remarkable for a clearness and purity which I do not find in any other instrument, while the base is distinguished for power without harshness, and for a magnificent sonority. Your Planos are superior to any I have ever seen in this country or in Europe.

I have never heard a tone so perfect; it yields every expression that is needed in music, and its quality is capable of change to meet every sentiment. This is a rare power, and is derived from the perfect purity of its tone, together with its sympathetic, elastic and well balanced touch.

During the past eight years I have constantly played upon the justly celebrated Erard Pianos; yours are the only instruments that I have found, either here or in Europe, to equal them in all their points of excellence.
